“ *My Aunt Jeanne was an amazing woman. As a kid, she was my everything. She made sure two things happened for me in my crazy, hectic, stressfull child-hood, Sunday I was in church and Monday nights I was at Job's Daughters. She was the source of my morals and ethics. Being the teacher that she was, when I was in the 5th or 6th grade my Christmas present from her and Uncle Jay were a set of Enclyopedia's. I still have the set today. They are useless today, but one of my most treasured possessions.
Aunt Jeanne, I hope that you were proud of me. For many years, your opinion was the only opinion that mattered to me. I am happy that you and Uncle Jay are reunited. Rest In Peace.*

“ Jeanne was my Aunt and since I was the first born child of her siblings, she spent a lot of time with, me and had a great influence in my life. I will miss her very much and wish her peace and happiness in joining with her husband, parents, and siblings in heaven. Aunt Jeanne, I love you very much.

You will forever be missed by all.

Aunt Jeanne was the best aunt, she always had time for us. She introduced me to Christianity from an early age, my earliest memories are her giving me a quarter for the collection plate and she always let me sit in the front seat right next to her if I held her bible on the drive over.

In the summers we would help her clean up her classroom and decorate for the upcoming year. I vaguely remember the room, but I clearly remember the chalkboard and all the books. I will forever cherish every value you've instilled in me. Forever loved Aunt Jeanne!
